Capital Management Strategy

- Tangible capital to asset ratio is 10.8% vs. stated objective of 7.0%
 - Financial reform will likely cause us to revisit and increase the target
 - Regulators want to see excess capital until unquestioned recovery
 - Excess capital is valuable while the economy remains weak
 - While not expected, provides a valuable cushion against unforeseen losses
 - Well positioned to support organic growth
 - Available for strategic growth (i.e. acquisitions of banks / branch deposits)
 - Will only raise new capital to support specifically identified growth initiatives

- Share repurchase program remains in effect
 - Shares are repurchased to help manage dilutive effects of options
 - Helps support trading volume
 - Current market price is highly accretive at prices below book value

- Dividend Outlook
 - Current rate is modest at $0.01 per share per quarter
 - Bias is to increase and develop an attractive dividend yield (will attract investors)
 - As credit concerns fade in recovery, increases should be expected.
